

NAD Textbook SELECTION PROCESS

Elementary education textbooks are reviewed and adopted/developed by the NAD Curriculum Committee, in conjunction with NAD Summer Committees, on a six-to-seven year cycle.

Textbooks are selected based on their alignment with Adventist Education Standards. Bible, language arts, and science textbooks are developed so the content intentionally integrates the Adventist worldview. Multi-grade guides for textbooks are available for most content areas.

Summer Committees are organized by the NAD Curriculum Committee to assist in the adoption or development of textbooks. Elementary teachers, school/conference/union administrators, and higher education professors, from across the NAD, are selected to serve on the committees based on their content area expertise. Elementary union associates serve as the chairpersons of the Summer Committees. The responsibilities of the committees include the review of current content area textbooks, and development of textbook recommendations or materials that align with Adventist Education Standards. Recommendations are then voted by the NAD Education Advisory Committee.
